Produced from 100% Albariño, Galicia's rising star, this clean, fresh wine explodes from the glass with intense white fruit and floral aromas. Flavors of white peach, apricot and citrus mingle with hints of minerals and honey. In the vineyard low crop yields and optimum ripeness levels are the norm. The grapes used in Castel de Bouza are selected from the vineyard's best plots, gently destemmed, pressed, and fermented in temperature controlled stainless steel tanks. Half of the wine is allowed to go through malolactic fermentation in order to impart a hint of silky richness. Fruit driven yet dry with mouthwatering, juicy acidity, Castel de Bouza is a heavenly match with shellfish, but in absence of a local scallop monger, try it with anything, especially good friends and family.

“Castel de Bouza” Albariño, DO Rias Baixas, 2003

The Wine News - “Aromas of fresh peach and apple butter. Honeyed nectarine and peach flavors laced with youthful acids. Great length with a spritzzy, green-apple tang.” 93 Pts -March 2005

International Sommelier Guild - Recommended “Interesting, juicy, complex. Dried fruits flavors. Fruity, long finish.” Nov./Dec. 2004

“Castel de Bouza” Albariño, DO Rias Baixas, 2004

Wine Spectator - “Focused and well-integrated flavors of pear, apricot and grapefruit suffuse this generous white. A hint of spritz keeps it refreshing. Drink now” 86 pts TM Sept, 2005 (Note: in the problematic 2004 vintage of all albariños WS reviewed (approx 25) only one wine of lesser price rated higher)

Vivir el Vino - Spain’s equivalent to Wine Spectator 90 pts... BEST YOUNG WHITE WINE FOR 2005
